The Future Is Here.

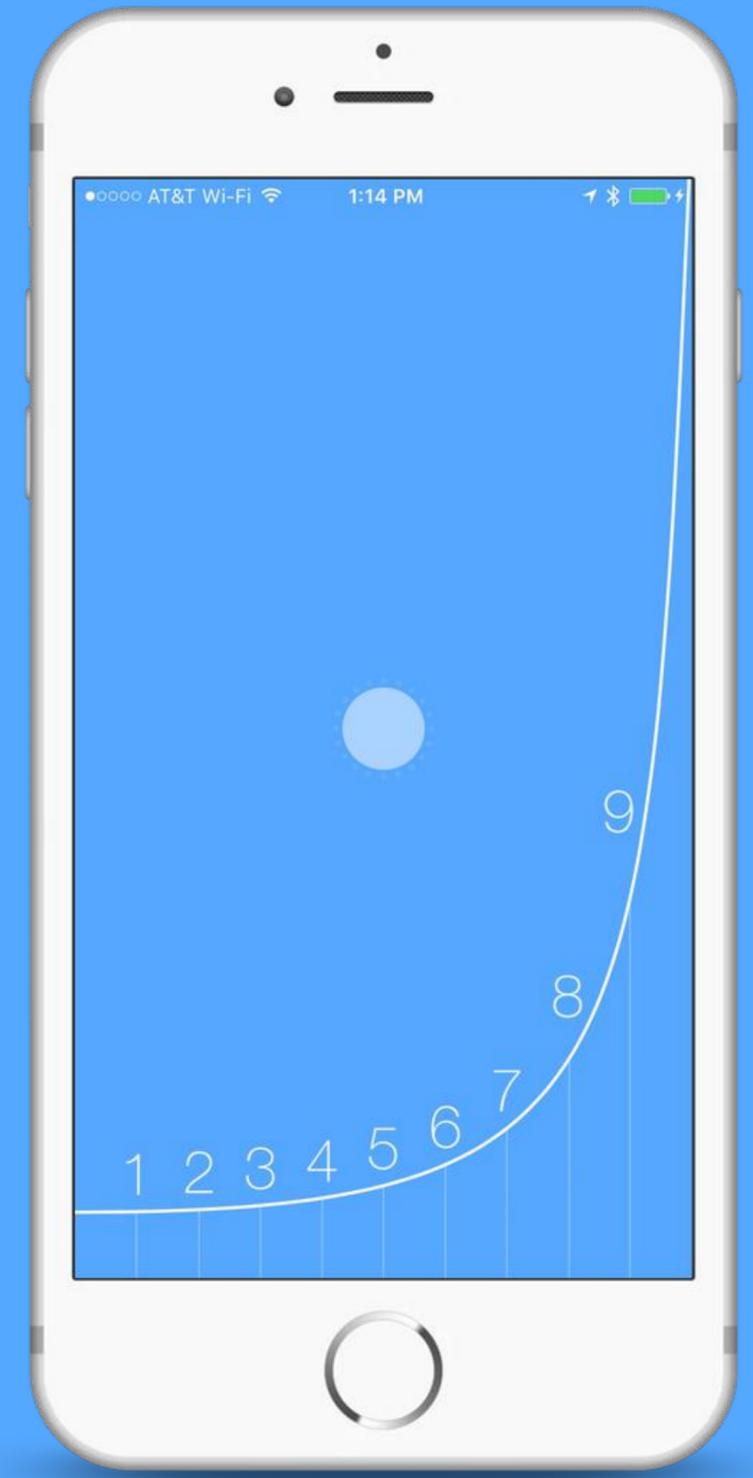

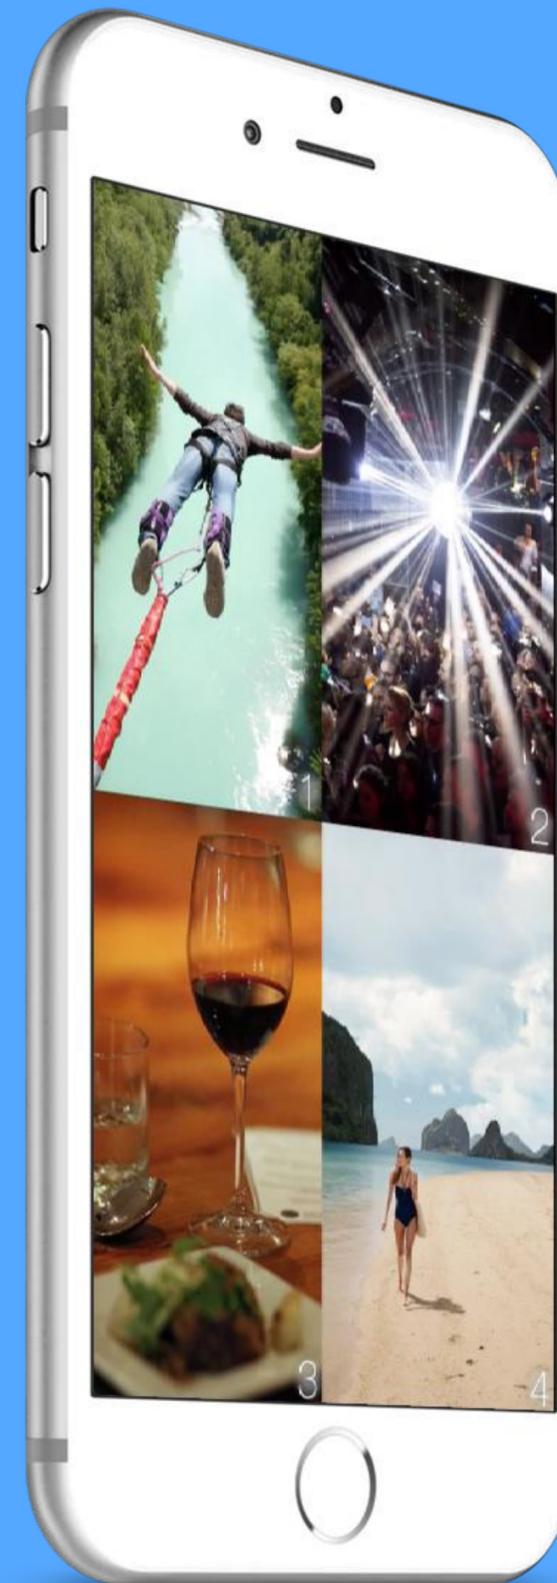

Meet AIMM.

Looking for love in all the wrong places? Tinder, Bumble, you name it, what do all of these apps have in common? They are superficial. You swipe left, you swipe right, but you are only ever evaluating that decision based solely on looks.

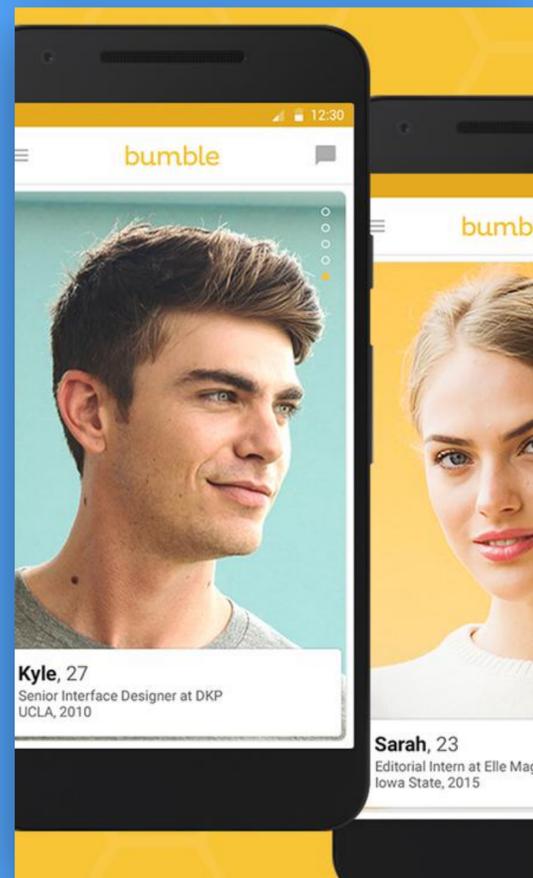

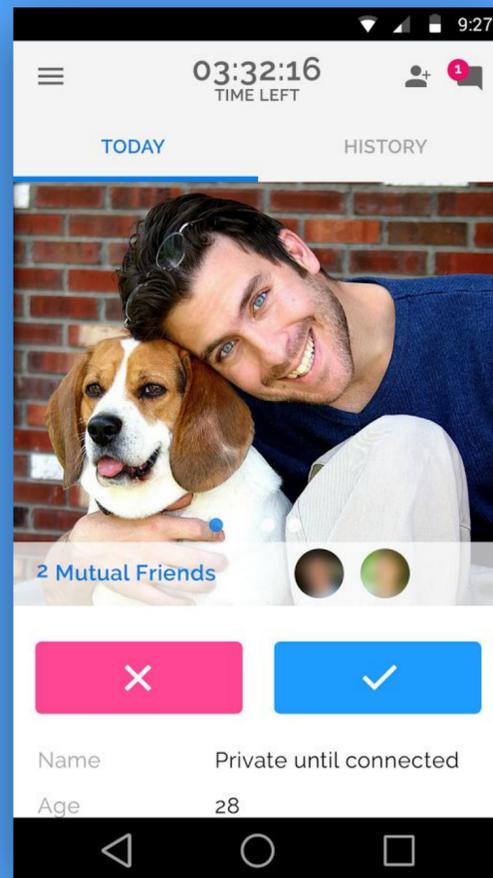

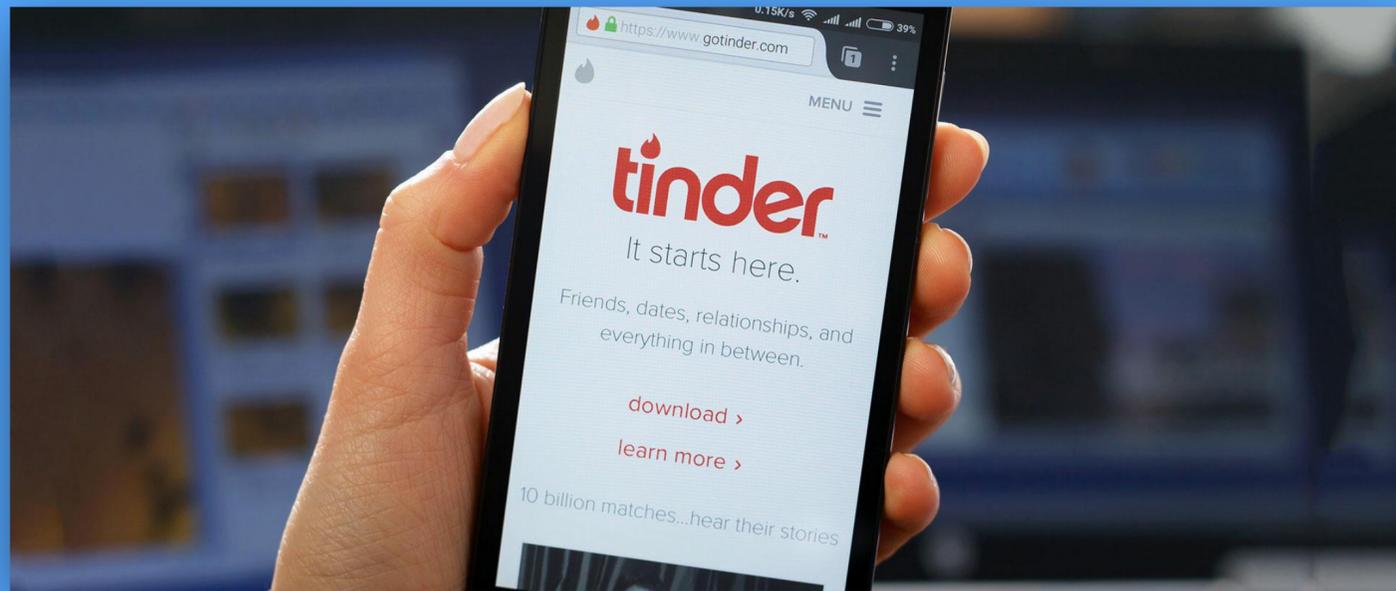

AIMM is designed to mirror a human matchmaking service. It has the technical advantages that other dating apps simply can't offer. It is the world's first fully conversational artificial intelligence app to be featured on the App Store with incredible new technology. Facial recognition software allows you to access your account then build your relationship by using the sound of your voice to answer questions.

When you open AIMM, you'll be greeted by an automated voice instead of a gallery of 'potential' matches who might not be matches at all. She takes days to learn who you really are and then begins curating your connections. She waits to tell you a little bit more about the prospect she spoke to you about last week. Soon... she facilitates a phone call for you two, if it feels right. Don't worry, AIMM hold's your hand the entire time.

AIMM stands alone, the first of its kind to transform the dating industry into a respectful world of matchmaking.

Dating of Today.

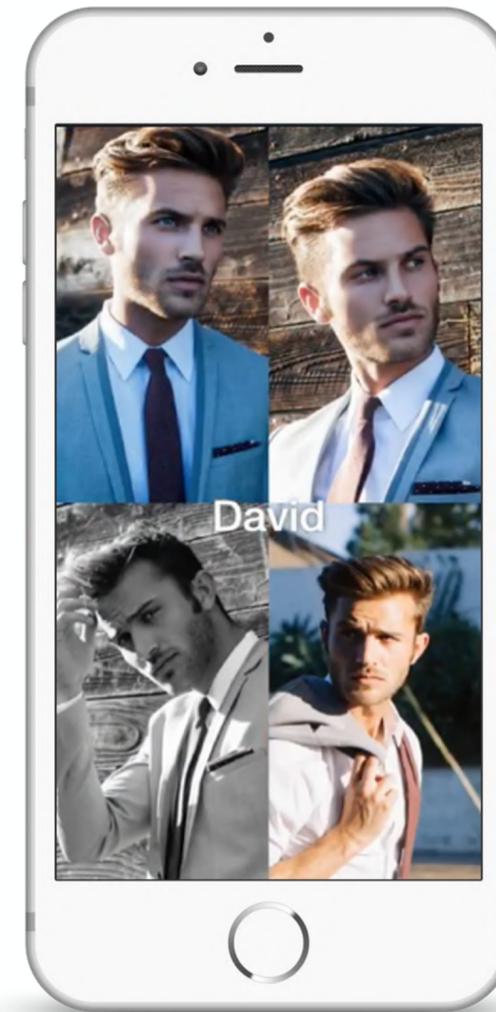

Dating of Tomorrow.

AIMM is Different.

With other dating apps you might as well be flipping a coin or spinning the bottle; they don't reach the core of a person to truly understand who they are and what they're looking for. To create a genuine, long term relationship, you need an app that creates a deep connection.

That's where AIMM comes in - The world's first respectful, artificial intelligence matchmaking service.

The Developer.

Meet Kevin Teman.

Since I can remember I knew the potential of online dating was VAST, but no one seemed to be getting it right. Built on the backs of older platforms like Match and others, galleries, chat rooms, and inflated profiles were the norm. There had to be a better way.

The problems that exist in platforms like these become very obvious when you use them. Many profiles are left empty, others are forced and unnatural. You question whether photos or profiles are real and never know whether profiles themselves are fakes set up by the host company. It is riddled with horrible emptiness - this destroyed the potential of online dating.

With the help of advanced technology, I found a way to take it to... I hesitate to say the next level... but rather the level it should have been at in the first place. We now have the ability to utilize facial recognition, offline voice recognition, desktop powerful processors, cameras, microphones, I mean the phone is practically a human being with all its senses... why are we all still tapping through web-like interfaces with buttons?

The time is now for something truly next generation. Dating companies have been dragging their feet and it seems their heart just isn't in it anymore.

AIMM was developed out of the personal pain I experienced using the existing tools and failing. I will never stop pouring energy into AIMM until it is a true matchmaking system that combines the power of the internet with common sense matchmaking techniques that actually work. This is my passion and I won't stop until everything works perfectly, it needs to be done.

Thank you for choosing AIMM and welcome to the next generation of match making services.
